Behavioral Responses to a Social Security Information Intervention in the United States

Researchers:

Jeffrey Liebman

Erzo Luttmer

Sector(s): Finance, Labor Markets, Social Protection

Location: United States of America

Sample: 2,483 working individuals over the age of 55

Target group: Adults Seniors (65+) Workers

Outcome of interest: Employment

Intervention type: Information

AEA RCT registration number: AEARCTR-0001648

□□□□□□□□ : https://doi.org/10.3886/E114551V1

Research Papers: Would People Behave Differently If They Better Understood Social Security? Evid...

Liebman, Jeffrey B. and Ezro F.P. Luttmer. ‰ÛÏWould People Behave Differently if they Better Understood Social Security? Evidence from a Field Experiment.‰Û NBER Working Paper #17287, August 2011.