Billions have been spent to end global poverty, but has it been spent well? Yale economist Dean Karlan sits down with Ross to explain why we need to take into account human irrationality to be successful at helping people.

KUOW does not endorse or control the content viewed on these links as they appear now or in the future.

- Dean Karlan At The University Of Washington
- 'More Than Good Intentions' At IPA

How to be a caller during the live show

Tips

conversation@kuow.org

Email

© 2011 KUOW Puget Sound Public Radio. A service of the University of Washington

FCC EEO Statement, Privacy Policy. Support for kuow.org provided in part by the Otto Haas Charitable Trust.